Select subdomain manager. Then, pick your website address. The first part may NOT include your last name. You can pick a nickname if you'd like. Select atwebpages.com as the suffix.

Subdomain Manager

Inside this section you can create subdomains of a domain name.

Subdomain Name: .

Example: yourname.domain.com

Go to File Manager (light) and you should see your subdomain → Click on it

File Manager

Current folder: /home/www/

Note: Directory protection for your hostnames is enabled, so you do not delete them by accident.
(You CANNOT delete hostname directories and upload files outside them) Directory protection:

Permissions: Recursive

Options	Name	Size
<input type="checkbox"/>  	tonya.atwebpages.com	-
<input type="checkbox"/> Select All	Total: 1 folders

Now, edit the placeholder index.html page →

Options	Name	Size
<input type="checkbox"/>   	index.html	266 B

Edit your index page to be a simple page (click the pencil) with an H1 and a paragraph. Again, no last names! Delete all their code first and then save.

Back t

Press F11 (or ESC in Safari on Mac OS X) when cursor is in the editor to toggle full screen editing.

Edit your file `/home/www/tonya.atwebpages.com/index.html` below:

```
1 <html><head>
2   <title>Tonya's Webpage</title>
3   </head>
4
5   <body>
6     <h1 style="color: blue; text-align: center;">Tonya's Webpage</h1>
7     This is my first page on the internet!
8   </body>
9 </html>

```

Now, type in your address → _____ .atwebpages.com in a tab and check it out!!

You should be “for real” online now! 😊

Record the address of your page →

_____ .atwebpages.com on your printout and turn in!! Yay! 😊
